BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS

Approve Tentative '72 Budget

The Crawford County Board of Commissioners at the April session tentatively approved a 1972 budget of $462,558.43. The 1971 budget was $376,740.84. The 1972 budget is a 20% increase over the 1971 budget.

Those areas of the budget that are increasing for much of the increase are Child Care up $10,000, State Highway Care up $5,000, Personnel Cost of Living increases total $10,500. Other line budgeted items are expected to be up proportionately because of inflation.

Representatives of the City of Grayling met with the Board to discuss the County taking over the assessing duties of the City and a meeting of Commissioners, City Council, and Township officials has been called for May 3rd to discuss county-wide assessing and the ramifications of the new statute stating that all townships must have Certified Assessors by December 30, 1971.

Also meeting with Commissioners were the Crawford County Road Commission, and they reviewed their budget, progress plans, and road building in the county for the 1970 calendar year.

Two resolutions of importance were adopted. A resolution was sent to the Military Board asking that an increase be made on military lands from 100 per acre to 750 per acre. The 100 per acre on Military Land has not changed in the past 18 years.

A second resolution was sent to the Commissioners of the Department of Natural Resources asking that hearings be instituted pertaining to the need for special rules on certain portions of the river in Crawford County.

Photography Show At Kirtland C.C.

Kirtland Community College is pleased to announce a photography show, "Reflections," by Daniel Farber. The show was arranged for by Duane Bastian, Art Instructor, and is sponsored and financed by the Student Senate.

The show consists of 33 dye transfer prints mounted on masonite without matting or framing. The subject Mr. Farber has chosen is Reflections in water with the emphasis on the abstract design quality that is created by reflections of objects on water.

Mr. Farber has received numerous national honors. He has two hundred and three of his color prints in the permanent collection of 30 Museums and Galleries. The Library of Congress has 118 of Mr. Farber's prints in its collection. He has exhibited in the Fine Arts show IV and V at the New York World's Fair and in a state department tour of Russia. He has been published in American Heritage Magazine, Popular Photography, Modern Photography, Saturday Review, American Journal, McCall's and others. Columbia Records has also used 17 of his pictures on record jackets.

Mr. Farber's photographs are being displayed in the Science hallway in the newly opened Academic Building. The show will be on display through April 30 and the public is invited to view it at any time during regular school hours.

Trout Season Opens Saturday

Crawford County Recreation Activities

Trout fishermen planning to fish the Upper AuSable River Watershed and the Upper Manistee will find that the heavy water runoff of Easter weekend has changed and moved some favorite Trout cover. River levels from April 9th to April 15th were at all time highs. Snow cover for the most part is rapidly disappearing and if heavy rains do not materialize, river levels will drop, but look for higher than normal levels for "Opening Day."

Iron Dams and Early Stone Flies are in evidence from mid-morning until mid-afternoon, with some surface feeding activity, even with high water. The Upper Manistee, East Branch, and Big Creek should be fine for bait fishermen and spincasters.

Trail roads to favorite fishing areas for the most part are open, also open are all campgrounds.

Starting April 21st, the "Hot Line" for Crawford County will operate 24 hours a day. Phone 517-348-3336 and 517-348-9493 for information on river conditions, fishing activity, canoeing, camping, accommodations, etc.

Meeting Notice

The Kirtland Community College Board of Trustees will meet Thursday, April 22, at 8:00 p.m. on campus.

LANSING — Quality trout fishing regulations which go into effect April 24 with the start of Michigan's general trout season are changed very little from last season and cover the same stretches of the AuSable, Manistee, and Pere Marquette rivers as in 1970, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

The rules, spanning about 80 miles of those 3 streams, are the same as last year except for one adjustment which extends the special season 16 more days to run through the end of October.

DNR fisheries specialists explain that the extension of the season will have little effect on trout because fishing pressure is very light on these streams in the fall. However, it will provide added opportunity for dyed-in-the-wool fly fishermen at a colorful, bug-free time of the year.

As an exception to these rules, which also applied in 1970, flies-only regulations will not come into play until June 1 on a 7-mile section of the Pere Marquette River from M-37 Bridge downstream below the mouth of the Danaher Creek in Lake County.

DNR fisheries officials are currently giving serious thought to recommending that stretch of the stream as the state's first special area for steelhead fishing, starting with next season.

Under such a proposal, the 7-mile section of the PM would be open to extend flies-only fishing — perhaps year-around — to cover steelhead runs during the early spring and fall.

As for this season, special regulations taking effect June 1 in the PM's quality trout area include minimum size limits of 7 inches for brook trout and 10 inches for all other trout.

Those same size limits, designed to protect small trout and promote a build-up of trout populations, will go into effect April 24 in the following special areas:

—North Branch of the AuSable River from Eau Claire Landing down to the mouth in Crawford County;

—Main Stream of the AuSable River from M-37 Bridge down to Wakeley Bridge in Crawford County;

—South Branch of the AuSable River from Deer Heart Valley Road down to the mouth in Crawford County; and —North Branch of the AuSable River from Dam 2 down to Otsego County Line.

This season's minimum size limits are 7 inches for brook trout and 12 inches for all other trout in a special section of the Manistee River from Yellow Trees Landing down to the C.C.C. Bridge (T26N, R6W, Sections 25, 26) in Kalkaska County.

For the Little Manistee River's quality area from Spencer Bridge down to Johnson's Bridge in Lake County, the minimum size covering all trout is 10 inches. The blanket size limit for trout is again 15 inches in the Mio area of the AuSable River's Main Stream. That special section runs from the power line (Sec. 7, T26N, R3E) down to McKinley Bridge in Oscoda County, and carries a daily creel quota of 2 trout.

All of the other quality trout fishing areas offer a daily catch limit of 5 trout, same as in 1970.

Ben Apps

Thomas Jennette

The promotion of Ben Apps as Accounting Manager and the selection of Thomas Jennette as General Accountant at Bear Archery Division, Victor Corporation, has been announced by Alan E. Beatty, Bear Controller.

He is a graduate of the Business Administration School at Wayne State University. After graduation he served two years in the Navy, serving mainly on a destroyer in the western Pacific area.

In announcing the changes at Bear, Beatty stated, "With the promotion of Ben Apps and the selection of Tom Jennette, we have completed the re-alignment and expansion of the Bear Accounting Department made necessary because of the recent rapid growth of the company and vacancies created by previous promotions."

Apps and his wife, the former Gayle Nolph of Higgins Lake, have one child, Kelli, 1.

Larger Towns Eligible for Rural Housing Loans

Residents of rural towns in the population range of 5,000 to 10,000 are now eligible to apply for Rural Housing loans from the Farmers Home Administration, State Director Alfred O. LaPorte said today. This greatly broadens the eligibility possibility for rural families who do not have decent or adequate housing and need the assistance made possible through the Farmers Home Administration.

Mr. LaPorte announced also that families living in areas of population between 10,000 to 50,000 may be considered for loans to acquire adequate housing in the rural areas of 10,000 population or less.

The 2400 families in Michigan who obtained adequate, improved housing through the Rural Housing assistance program during calendar year 1970 used 33 million dollars. State Director LaPorte says that Michigan has been allotted 25 million dollars for the first two quarters of the 1971 calendar year. The office is busy processing applications submitted by individual families as well as those submitted by realtors, builders, and others as a packaged docket. Mr. Noble's office is open every day for consultation or inquiries.

Marcie Kaiser To Play Character Role

The character role of Agnes Touch in the upcoming production of the Broadway musical "Mame" by the Grayling High School Department of Vocal Music will be played by Marcie Kaiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kaiser of Frederic. Throughout the play, Agnes represents the height of Mame's endeavor to get everyone to live life at its fullest.

People of the community will most remember Marcie for her magnificent performance in the lead role of Mei Lei in last year's production of "Flower Drum Song." Prior to that performance, Marcie appeared on the Grayling High Stage as Bet in the musical "Oliver", as the stepmother in the production of "Cinderella", and as the Mad Woman in this year's Drama Club production of the "Mad Woman of Chailot".

Marcie has served her class as a member of its executive board and has held various class offices. She devoted two years of her high school career to cheerleading and is a four year member of the Concert Choir and has been a member of the Chorale for the past two years. Marcie is presently vice president of both the Drama Club and the Theatians.

To Start Plans for Centennial

By Mrs. Ed Truettner

1971 is going to be a very important year.

The City of Grayling is going to celebrate its centennial. As Ed Truettner says "It's not to be the last time we'll ever saw 'Mame' naturally but for the first time in the state."

But 1971 is only eight months away and the time is getting short. A lot of work has to be done. There will be a meeting of the Woman's Club Building Monday, April 26, at 7:30. We are asking anyone interested to be present. We need lots of suggestions.

And then to the men. Start growing those beards. And the ladies, start looking for patterns and fabrics for the dresses you are going to wear.

Remember, the meeting is open to everyone. Please be there.

Little League Tryouts Set

Tryouts for Little League will be held at Milliken Field on Saturday, April 24th, at 12:00 sharp. Only boys 9 to 12 who are not on a Major League team are required to tryout. Eight year olds will play in the Minor League and will be assigned a team later.

If you missed the registration last Sunday, you may still do so at the tryouts next Saturday.

Very important information regarding your local Little League will be published in next week's Avalanche. Parents and boys, don't miss this.

Play Ball, Harry Miller

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

Marine Division Enters Busy Season

Bob Ruddy used to paddle a canoe and guide fishermen on the famed AuSable River for a living. But today, as head of the Crawford County Sheriff's Department, Marine Division, Bob is also responsible for maintaining law and order on 125 miles of Crawford County canoeing trails and boating waters, directing visitors, and acting as good will ambassador.

Sitting astride two of the major watersheds of the northern Lower Peninsula — the AuSable and Manistee Rivers — Crawford County boasts upwards of 60,000 persons putting into its canoeing waters every year.

The Canoe Patrol, which resulted from an appeal by interested citizens to Sheriff Art Clough and the Crawford County Board of Supervisors, had humble beginnings in 1968.

From a part time deputy working only on weekends in a borrowed canoe it had developed in 1970 into a five man unit besides two part time deputies, equipped with radio, first-aid kits, blankets, hatchets, fire extinguishers, and other emergency equipment.

Yet, as the Marine Division has grown so has the water traffic, the number of marine complaints, and the overcrowding of campgrounds, such that the demand for increased marine patrols and enforcement has risen to a peak higher than ever before. The AuSable River, though it represents the area of major concentration, is but one of the numerous resources which the Marine Division has under its jurisdiction in Crawford County. Regular patrols must be maintained and complaints answered at these other areas.

Compounding the problem is the fact that while this demand for law enforcement has increased, the man-power available to the Marine Division, through an unfortunate turn of events, has decreased. This summer finds the division facing the situation with a four man unit and one part time deputy.

And now, finally, with the weather showing us a turn for the better, the canoeing and boating season has already begun, to some extent, and in no time at all will be on us in full force. With its short handed staff the Marine Division is hurriedly making repairs for the upcoming onslaught. Inspections of all canoe liveries and each individual canoe are in progress at the moment and patrols have already begun throughout many parts of the county.

In addition, this weekend at the trade show there will be a booth displaying the types of equipment, personnel, and laws employed by the Marine Division in their pursuit of safe waters in Crawford County. There, the Marine Officers will do their best to enlighten you with regards to any questions you might have.

As far as advice, the Marine Division asks that each of you help make their problem a little easier for this season by being mindful of and observing the rights of the numerous others who will be using the waters. "One man's prerogative to swing his fist, ends where the other man's nose begins." We would ask that you be especially careful in the months ahead and help make it a safe summer for all.

Jack Pine's Stump

The other day, while driving home from Big Rapids, I saw some youngsters flying kites. They were good at it — so good in fact that I stopped along the road to watch. One youngster had a Japanese-styled bird kite which he could make go about everything a power driven airplane could do. Unfortunately, after I had been there about 15 minutes, the kite went into a nosedive, almost pulled out, did a wing-over and crashed. The other, more standard-type kites kept flying, dragging their long tails of knotted rags and bed-sheets in the traditional manner. The youngster with the wrecked kite was starting to gather up a couple hundred yards of string when I drove off.

As I drove north I recalled the days when I used to fly kites with my kids. I am sure I had as much fun as they did — and probably more. They'd be ready to go home while I was still trying to set altitude records. I think most adults would still fly kites if they weren't afraid of being laughed at. As these pleasant thoughts were passing thru

SBA Representative To Visit Traverse City

Robert F. Phillips, District Director of the Small Business Administration, announced today that a loan officer will be available in Traverse City on April 27, 1971 to conduct interviews with prospective loan applicants. This will be for the purpose of interviewing small businessmen who wish to make application for a business loan or to acquire information regarding SBA's lending or other programs.

The SBA representative will be available from 9:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Traverse City Chamber of Commerce Building located at Grand View Parkway. Inquirers are encouraged to bring current financial information including up-to-date balance sheets and operating statements to the interview. Interested parties may call (616) 947-5075 to arrange for a definite appointment.

my mind, I saw more kites in the air, and sure enough, there was a man — who looked older than I — flying a kite. Two children, about five or six, had kites also and all three flew very well indeed. And I felt much better, for I realized I had met an honest man — and never spoken to him.

— JP —
Speaking of kids and men — and getting completely away from the previous subject — I am reminded of a story I heard a couple of years ago concerning a boy who had a new stepfather. His own father was allowed to visit him at regular intervals. On one occasion he asked the boy how things were going. "Pretty good, dad," "You get enough to eat, son?" he asked. "Sure, dad, plenty of spending money." So dad asks, "How about recreation?" "Well," the boy replies, "my stepfather takes me for a rowboat ride every morning. No Dad, I don't mind the rowing. And I don't even mind my stepfather throwing me overboard every morning. What really gets me down is fighting my way out of that sack."

— JP —
Ideas for the Grayling Centennial are starting to come in, and I believe that Sal Truettner will have Centennial news elsewhere in this week's Avalanche. Larry McNamara is all for growing a Centennial beard. I can't imagine Larry with a beard and moustache. He certainly wouldn't look like Santa Claus. Maybe something like one of the Seven Dwarfs. Personally, I don't think he can grow a good one, and would probably have to have some help (I wonder if they make wig-type things for people like him.) Anyway, I'm suspicious of the whole plan and suspect he just plain doesn't want to shave for a year or so.

— JP —
Look out the window some morning soon and you see the bird after the worm, the cat after the bird, the dog after the cat and the neighbor after the dog. It'll give you a little bit better understanding of the day's news.

— JP —
Newspaper column reader Barber Burt got even with me the other day when I came out of the hotel after lunch. He called me in, told one of his long stories and when I turned to leave, I had a brand new parking ticket — one which hadn't been there 60 seconds before. Which I guess I had coming. He's OK though, even when he does forget his name.

— JP —
A note came to me in the mail last week which, with a slight modification, I am glad to pass on. It read "When you're up to your hips in alligators, you sometimes tend to forget that your original purpose was to drain the swamp."

THAT WORRIED LOOK

With these young pups, that worried look isn't real. You might call it a physiological illusion. The whole problem is that their heads haven't grown enough to fill out the wrinkles in their brows.

But with people a worried look is usually real. It reflects the deep concerns that trouble our world and lives.

Yet worry isn't going to improve the world. Its only real value is that it encourages us to seek solutions where they can be found. The best thing to replace worry with is FAITH.

Through the centuries man has found hope and courage in the truths of religion. God never meant us to solve our problems alone. Perhaps our most perplexing problem today is that too many people have been trying to do just that!

Better Timberland Use Urged

A section of the President's Economic Report to the nation dealt with timber resources and their use. It sets forth, in as clear a manner as possible, the background against which forest land management policies must be developed, particularly in the 65 percent of the nation's inventory of softwood sawtimber which is on public lands.

The Report states, "If the Nation's housing demand for this decade is to be met, the annual consumption of softwood lumber and plywood by the housing industry may have to increase by as much as 75 percent over current levels. And as the economy resumes a course of vigorous expansion, nonhousing demand for softwood will increase as well. . . . Accordingly, the President has directed the Secretary of Agriculture to formulate plans for increasing timber yields on federal lands. An increase in the timber harvest through intensified management promises broad public benefits. Not only will consumers of wood products, particularly purchasers of housing, benefit through lower prices, but this can be achieved while keeping our timber resources intact. Unlike other natural resources, forests are renewable, so increased cuttings need not imply a permanent reduction in the annual lumber supply. Indeed, it appears that, with proper planning and management, the permanent yield of forest lands can be increased. . . . Indeed, increased harvests can offer benefits beyond the increased supply of timber, for intensified forest management can also result in a natural increase in wildlife and improved opportunities for recreation."

If a timber industry official were asked to define the meaning of the President's timber resources statement, he could do so in two words — multiple use. As the head of the National Forest Products Association expresses it, "The President's Economic Report demonstrates a clear understanding that intensified management through the application of modern forestry practices to federal commercial forests can afford broad public benefits, not only in timber yield, but in a natural increase in wildlife and improved opportunities for recreation."

The Hairy Problem

By Jim Fitzgerald

A lot of cocktail-hour liberals parade their broad minds by praising Martin Luther King and then adding: "I don't mind long hair, either, if it's clean."

Heck, give me an extra cocktail: I don't even mind if the hair is a bit dirty. Cleanliness is greatly overrated in this country anyway. I don't think it's next to Godliness. Judging by the TV soap commercials, cleanliness is next to absurdity. That many nutty women, ecstatic over enzymes, can't be right. No matter what Proctor and Gamble say, grime is no crime. This great country was built by dirty-handed men, covered with honest sweat, long before you wished everyone else used Dial.

(Please notice that I called the country great, and the sweat honest. I insert such adjectives regularly to confuse investigators from the FBI, CIA and Army Surplus).

The sheriff of my favorite county might well think I'm subversive. He has a Viet Nam war hero (two silver star medals) locked up in his jail for smoking pot. The hero wore his hair long because that's the way he likes it. But his jailers insisted he get a haircut or serve his six months in solitary confinement. The hero finally gave in to the shearing because "I was lonely."

Short haircuts are a jail requirement for health reasons, the sheriff explained. He's afraid of lice and apparently he prefers to prevent them with scissors rather than soap.

"But what about women prisoners?" I asked the sheriff. "Do they also get a mandatory mowing?"

"We don't get many women prisoners," he answered, if you can call that an answer.

You might think the sheriff isn't properly concerned about lice on female heads. Not me. I think he is overly concerned with something that's really none of his business — how another man wears his hair.

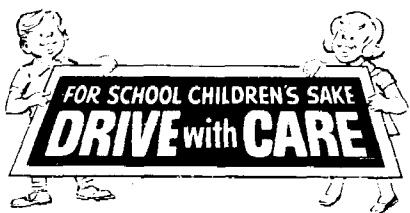

But the longhairs shouldn't stage a protest march around the jail. Their problem is much bigger than that. The sheriff pretty much reflects the thinking of the people who elect him, which is what he's supposed to do. I'll swear the Middle American, the guy in my boat, has developed a king-size mania concerning young men's hair.

I have friends who turn red and nasty at the sight of a boy with long hair. I've seen fat, ugly men in shorts insult boys whose only sin was to appear in public with hair covering their ears. One woman wrote that a Viet Nam veteran had no right to expect the respect and gratitude of his fellow Americans until "you get your hair cut and look like a man."

Geez. I am ashamed for my contemporaries. There are a lot of grave problems making a mess of this world. Long hair is not one of them. What the hell do I care how some kid I don't even know wears his hair? Why should anyone else care? It's his hair.

It's time Middle America dropped the nonsense and began worrying about important things. Like, for instance, the other day I saw a Rotarian wearing bell-bottom pants!

Of course, I really don't care as long as they're clean.

Consumers Want to Know

By MARGARET SPADER
Director of Consumer Affairs
National Association of Manufacturers

As a home sewer, I feel handicapped because information about the washability and fiber content is not available on fabric purchased by the ward. Shouldn't textile manufacturers provide it?

Today, many manufacturers provide information on fiber content, as well as care instructions on the bolt-end, or hang-tag tucked into the bolt. However, this information remains in the store and the purchaser must rely on her memory once she has taken the fabric home.

One fiber manufacturer has introduced a novel identification on a continuous paper tape. The instructions are printed repetitively, every few inches. Rolls of this tape are inserted along the fold of the fabric, as it's wound on the bolt. No matter how small an amount of fabric is purchased in the retail store, at least one set of instructions will be cut with the fabric.

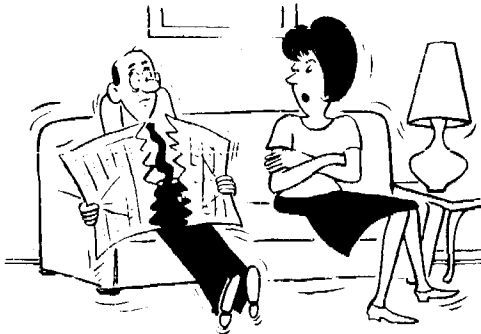

Can starched clothes be dried in a clothes dryer? The starch seems to powder out when I do this?

When drying starched clothes, start with a cold drum and don't overdry. That causes the starch to powder out. After drying, it's a good idea to wipe out the dryer drum with a damp cloth or sponge to remove starch particles that might be left in the drum.

What does the word "denier" mean on a box of stockings?

Denier is the weight and thickness of a strand of nylon yarn. The lower the denier, the thinner the yarn and thus the sheerer the stocking. Very sheer hose are around seven denier, and heavier stockings will be 40 to 50 denier.

Another Benefit Under Attack

by Richard L. Milliman

For the common folks—and that includes most of us—there are few enough unadulterated joys in this world.

But some remain. For example, there is the joy of watching a fiery red sunset, or, if you get up early enough in the morning, of thrilling to the unequalled beauty and freshness of a spring dawn.

Or, there is the unmatched wonder of watching as a child develops his own personality, every changing, ever remaining the same, ever growing. Or, on a slightly different level, there is the unrivaled pleasure of suddenly finding a gasoline price war.

When you find gas stations vying with each other with ever-lowering prices, you just wish your old car would use gas faster—before the price goes up again to its usual level. But while the price war rages, the common folks who drive cars can enjoy one of life's little joys.

Now there has been introduced in the Michigan Legislature a proposed law which would outlaw gas price wars.

Sponsored by Rep. James Bradley, Detroit Democrat, and a host of others, the law is backed by the 1,200-member Retail Gasoline Dealers Association. Rep. Bradley was quoted when the bill was introduced as saying it was designed to help the competitive gas station situation in Detroit, which he described as "the nation's worst gasoline market."

But under terms of the bill, it would, of course, apply all over the state.

As we understand the bill as reported in the public media, it would prohibit any variation in retail gas prices, except those reflecting bona fide differences in the cost of manufacture, sale or delivery of petroleum products.

And by the same token, it would also prohibit wholesale gasoline distributors from charging different prices to different dealers.

The result would be one price for all motorists, as we understand it.

From the viewpoint of the gas station operators, we can understand why they would like to get away from price wars. And from the viewpoint of the wholesalers, it is also logical that a single price policy would be advantageous to them.

And Rep. Bradley, among others, argues that the end result of his proposal would be to benefit the public. Just how the public would benefit from fixed prices—at a level higher than the rock-bottom charges hit during the frequent competitive bidding for customers occasioned by price wars—is somewhat less clear. But Rep. Bradley says the benefit is there for the public; so there must be a benefit somewhere.

One public benefit the Detroit law-makers cited is that his bill would help to away with abandoned gas stations, which have fallen victims to the economic jungle. The public, Bradley says, "must live with the battlefield ruins of the gasoline price wars—the blight of abandoned gas stations." However, in our view, a pinch of selective zoning by local officials is probably a better cure for such a local blight on the landscape.

Personally, I hope the bill doesn't get anywhere. It would, as pointed out earlier, take away one of the few joys left for the common folk.

Already, the beauty of a flaming sunset, and the freshness of a brisk dawn, are endangered by the encroachment of environmental pollution; law is slow to find a remedy.

And the joys of watching a child develop also may have numbered days, as the sway of population control and legalized abortion give threat to the once-holy state of motherhood.

Now the joy of a gasoline price war is threatened.

Next thing you know somebody will come up with a legal ban on yet another unexpected pleasure—finding some unexpired time on a parking meter.

Please, Mr. Bradley and colleagues, leave us common folks some little benefits.

Thought For Food

Here's a tasty topping for a readymade angel cake. Whip 1 cup heavy cream; fold in 1/2 tsp. spoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, and 1/2 cup drained blueberries. Spoon on slices of angel cake. Makes 2 cups cream.

One half hour before your favorite meat loaf is done, brush with mixture of 1/2 cup chili sauce, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard. Finish baking.

For quick salads, look to lettuce wedges, sliced tomatoes or canned fruit with cottage cheese.

Frozen vegetables are economical for the small family. You can fix just the amount you want and keep the rest for another day.

Frankfurters can come to the aid of a busy cook. Pop them in a casserole instead of a bun and they come to the table hot and delicious. Nutritious, too, since a frank provides 7 grams protein (only 170 calories).

Brittle Mistake
Legend has it that sometime in the late 1800's a woman set out to make some peanut taffy. She accidentally reached for baking soda instead of cream of tartar and ended up with peanut brittle.

Pictured here is a reproduction of a painting which captures an early morning gathering of prairie chickens on a dancing ground in northern Lower Michigan. Conservationists may obtain free 10 by 14 inch prints of this painting in color, and keep this scene alive by contributing to a special fund which the Department of Natural Resources has established to save these endangered birds. The DNR's drive drew redoubled urgency last spring when its wildlife men were able to count no more than 35 prairie chickens in six scattered locations of Isosco, Missaukee, and Osceola counties. Of those locations, only a farmland area north of Marion in Osceola County holds the last hope for supporting a remnant population of these grassland boomers. DNR wildlife officials are optimistic about saving the colony of birds there, and public donations have already allowed them to lease 320 acres as a core area to preserve the Marion habitat. Negotiations are now under way to buy another 170 acres there as part of the ultimate plan to gain control to 1,200 acres within the four-square-mile area where the Marion colony lives. The DNR's target for 1971 is half of that total, 610 acres, and it needs $11,000-$15,000 to buy 144 more acres and reach that goal. Individuals and groups can make that goal come true and receive color prints of this painting by making checks or money orders payable to "State of Michigan, Prairie Chicken Fund," and mailing their donations to Department of Natural Resources, Lansing, Mich. 48926.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

EXAMPLE

The problem child is often a problem because parents believe they have fulfilled their responsibility when they tell the child what is right and what is wrong. Such an approach simply does not get the job done. Point a child in any direction and it is more than likely he will eventually fall back and follow in the footsteps of his parents.

The need, then, is for example. A child needs to be shown, not merely told. It is difficult for the child to establish a proper set of values when he observes that parents say one thing and do something else. A child may accept that some things are the adult prerogative, but such will not include the proper concepts of religion, brotherhood and fair play. If parents say, "go to church," and do not—what does a child think. If parents say, "love thy neighbor," and do not—why will a child do differently?

My Neighbors

"You're lucky—your mom only expects you to be president...mine expects me to get an 'A' in math."

Good Numbers

It's a good idea for every family to keep the phone numbers of essential services near the telephone, and every member of the family should know where that spot is. In an emergency, time is important.

It's a woman's WHIRL

by MARY LEE

With spring around the corner there'll be more work and outings ahead in the family car, no doubt. But one scene you'll want to bypass on those holidays is the auto repair shop.

So, now is the time to plan ahead, and have the car serviced properly. Your check list should include:

THE COOLING SYSTEM: Have the radiator flushed and refilled with new coolant. Be sure all belts and hoses are replaced where necessary.

ENGINE: Have a tune-up if not done in the last year. Check the ignition system if you have not had service within the past six months.

BRAKES: Unless you are sure of their condition, it is wise to have at least one wheel removed for a visual check of brake linings.

STEERING, TIRES, SUSPENSION: Be concerned with wheel balance and alignment, the condition of your tires and shock absorbers, and any part that affects the steering of your car.

LUBRICATION: Besides changing the oil and filter, the operation should include lubrication and a check for leaks, corroded parts of the exhaust system, and loose nuts and bolts.

LITTLE THINGS THAT CAN BE BIG: Examine for weak light bulbs, worn-out windshield wipers, and a clogged windshield washer hose.

Incidentally, can you remember when you last had a gasoline filter changed? In a survey of 150 service stations, 60 percent reported over 60 percent reported during the past year due to clogged gasoline filters.

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policymaker Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277 Park Ave., N. Y. N. Y., 10017

Q. Our family has been plagued with injuries and illnesses this year and we've filed more health insurance claims than ever before. In fact, we've received a great deal of help from these benefits. But now I'm worried. Is it possible for us to lose our policy if we make too many claims against it?

A. This depends on whether your insurance is set up on a group or individual basis. It isn't possible in a group plan even if claims related to the same illness are repeatedly submitted.

It could be possible, however, if you have an individual policy of the "optionally renewable" type. This means the company retains the option of renewing the policy when it expires (usually at the end of each policy year). Or, the company might, upon renewal, exclude benefits for a particular illness. Or your premium could be increased. Many people today have policies that cannot be terminated. They are called either "guaranteed renewable" or "non-cancelable." These policies would protect you against these actions. Both cost somewhat more than a policy that may be cancelled.

Q. I was recently released from a mental hospital after spending two years there. During that time I let my health insurance expire. Will it be possible for me to get coverage again?

A. If you have returned to work and your company has a group plan, you will automatically be covered under it.

If you are considering individual health insurance, it would be a good idea to talk to one or two insurance agents about special policies available for people with a medical history of disability, including mental illness. However, the insurance company will require a certain "recovery" period before issuing the insurance. Most people today are insurable, regardless of an earlier health problem.

GIVE TO YOUR AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

Petula Clark, international star of films, TV and supper clubs, asks your help in the American Cancer Society's Crusade. "The Society wants to wipe out cancer in your lifetime," says the blonde actress-singer, "and that will take lots of money. There are no bargains in cancer research. So please give generously when your neighbor, the ACS volunteer, calls on you."

County Community Service Has Successful Year In 1970

(By Mrs. Walter Truettner)

The boys at Camp LaVictoire under the direction of Leo Post made and painted doll cribs for the baby dolls.

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stanch, the Rialto Theater again had the Christmas matinee. A can or a package of food was the ticket to get in.

Mrs. Alfred Harland was in charge of moving some 800 cans and packages from the theater to the Women's club building. Her four helpers were Alfie Harland, Frankie Morse, Joyce Easterly and Doris Gidner. St. Mary's Altar Society donated a large amount of canned goods (also moved by Mrs. Harland).

The E.C.W. guild from St. Francis Episcopal Church again bought books for the youngsters and spent an afternoon wrapping them.

The W.S.C.S. from the Memorial Church bought material and made fifty nightgowns besides their donation. Donations were received from St. Johns Lutheran Church, Mt. Hope Lutheran Church, Latter Day Saints Church, Grayling Woman's Club and American Legion Auxiliary.

The Junior and Senior High School collected and wrapped several hundred cans of food. Kirtland Community College sent us a large load of canned goods and toys. Mrs. David MacLain and her Cub Scouts Den 3 donated canned goods. We figured we handled around 1600 cans and packages.

Our appreciation to Olson's of Grayling, Grayling Mercantile, Grayling Lumber and Supply, Miller Hdw., Burns Hdw., Bureau of Social Services, Crawford County Avalanche, Grayling State Savings Bank, to Lt. John Galloway for taking pictures, to Ace Lenz and Mrs. Robt. Meaker for delivering to shut-ins and to Bear Archery and the Grayling Kiwanis Club for special gifts.

The weather man did not play the wicked tricks he did the last two years and the deliveries were completed early. Kiwanians Bill Scheer, Bill Brady, Charles Fick, Jay Doty, Jerry McEvers, Bob Bovee, Fraser Dean, Joseph Stripe, Pete Stephan and Police Chief Harold Hatfield made the deliveries. Commissioner Fred Kauffman delivered in South Branch Twp.

We wish we had the space to list everyone that donated to our project and we sincerely hope we have not overlooked anyone. We on the Board are very grateful for all the help we received and we hope to continue our work in Community Service.

Our sincere thanks - Mrs. Walter F. Truettner, Pres. Mrs. Bernard Fowler, Sec., Mrs. Thomas Haugh, Treas.; Mrs. Rex Hawkins, Board Member; Mrs. Alfred Harland, Board Member; Shirley Arnold, Board Member; Alvin Moore, Board Member.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

4th. Spring

Spring - That wonderful time of the year. Forests and woodlands have come alive again. Small seeds, planted so tenderly in the window box or in the backyard are growing into a profusion of things.

This is a wonderful time of year. This is a time of year to see and to appreciate the wonders of the world which God created. This is a time to turn momentarily away from the clamor and din of the everyday world. A time, if you will, for silent meditation.

Where now, so soon after the Easter observance, do you stand with your God? What sort of a commitment do you have to the needs of your family, your friends, others to yourself?

Surrounded by a world running along so busily, how is the view from where you live from within yourself?

Have you seen the world need, as yet unmet? Spring is a time of new growth. It is a time to grow.

Tarr, at National Headquarters, Selective Service, Washington, D.C. The trophy bow was presented on behalf of the Army National Guard and the citizens of Grayling, as Colonel Rasak expressed Mr. Fred Bear's remarks that the nation could get a zero draft call rapidly, if all wars were fought with the archery bow, as presented. Dr. Tarr was most pleased with the bow presentation and promised to visit the Grayling area when he is in Michigan.

Mr. Joseph Stripe, Supt.
Crawford-AuSable School Dist.
500 Spruce Street
Grayling, Mich 49738

Dear Mr. Stripe:

The enclosed certificate issued by the Michigan Department of State Police and the Michigan Department of Education is in recognition of the recent school bus inspection program.

Your school district is one of 340 school districts that had every bus in its fleet meet the high standards set during the 1970-71 inspection year. This is a most praiseworthy achievement.

This year 85.8% of Michigan's 11,000 buses passed the annual inspection.

You and your transportation personnel are to be congratulated for the effort in obtaining safe vehicles for your community's children. We challenge you to repeat the performance in coming years.

Dear Jack:

I just finished reading the April 1, 1971 issue of The Avalanche including your fine column. I wish the mailman had lost this particular issue so I wouldn't have had to share your chagrin over the recent fire at your former home.

I too, was there several times, a long time ago, back when my uncle, Ernie Borchers used to guide your father and his parties on occasion.

What a rotten way for that gracious lady to go... on a dark night, in the winter, and all alone.

But like the Durant place, I suppose she will still live in memory, a quiet, sleepy memory of a golden age come to rest. I know just how you feel and I just wanted to say I'm sorry too.

New Michigan Vacation-Planning Book Available

BAY CITY — The challenge of marketing 8,600 resort, motel and hotel rooms to vacation travelers is the job of the new 1971 vacation guide published by the East Michigan Tourist Association.

These units, located in 330 lodging facilities throughout the East Michigan region, can accommodate more than 33,000 vacationers. Each is fully described in the 146-page guidebook, many with prices included, vital information to vacation planning families.

These Michigan Host resorts, motels and hotels are located on the beaches of Lake Huron and forty inland lakes, along a dozen major streams and rivers and adjacent to interstate freeways and state highways. More than half are in resort and recreation areas such as Houghton Lake, Grayling, Oscoda and Mackinaw City. The remainder are in or near cities including Lansing, Flint, Bay City, Midland, Clare, Alpena and Cheboygan.

More than 200 restaurant and food service members of the association are also listed in the guidebook. Half are connected with a resort, motel or hotel; the others range from quick-service drive-ins to gourmet restaurants.

The colorful guidebook lists hundreds of attractions and activities in describing things to see and do for vacationers. Canoe liveries, marinas, golf courses and industrial tours are listed. Mackinac Island is also featured along with special festivals and sporting events.

A section on camping in the guidebook describes the private campgrounds and lists the state and county parks of East Michigan.

"The guidebook is consumer-oriented," stated James Hall, executive vice-president of the sponsoring East Michigan Tourist Association. "The contents and design are geared to vacation-planning family needs based on personal contact with vacationers themselves."

The feature section includes details on kinds of vacations and their costs.

Major resort vacations, touring vacations and weekend trips are described plus seasonal trips in spring, fall and winter. More than 100 resort centers and cities are covered by the guidebook in the 18-page directory section. Specific, detailed information of lodging and dining facilities, attractions, campgrounds and auto services is contained in the directory.

A special feature are four sectional maps in full color, reproduced from the official State of Michigan highway map.

The guidebook is available without charge. Write to EMTA Guide, Log Office, Box 22, Bay City, Mich. 49706.
